LATE SPRING RETARDS

Trade Conditions Quiet—Big Winter Wheat Yield.

Dun's Review of Trade says this week:

"Adverse weather conditions accentuate the prevailing quietness in trade. Evidences of improvement are not absent, yet progress is checked by the backward spring. This retards distribution of seasonal merchandise and has caused accumulation of goods in some quarters.

"Winter wheat is in such shape that even last year's banner yield will probably be surpassed; everything points to an increased cotton acreage, while other leading crops are starting well. Speculative influences have imparted some firmness to prices of farm staples, but, in the broad sense, commodities are still tending downward."

THAW WINS DECISION

Habeas Corpus Writ Will Now Go to Supreme Court.

Harry Kendall Thaw's petition for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States district court in Concord, N.H. The court said, however, that no order would be issued for the prisoner's discharge from custody until arrangements had been completed to take the case to the United States supreme court on appeal.

That would probably mean that Thaw must remain in custody until at least October. Those best posted on the court's procedure predict it may be Christmas before the supreme court passes upon the case finally.

PROHIBITION PLAN URGED

Temperance People Argue Before House Committee

FAVOR HOBSON'S RESOLUTION

Drys Want Constitutional Amendment Calling For Nationwide Prohibition Submitted to States For Approval.

Nationwide prohibition was urged before the house judiciary committee at hearings on the resolution of Representative Hobson of Alabama, providing for a constitutional amendment. Dry supporters from many sections of the country were present to urge Hobson's resolution which provides for the submission to the states for ratification of a constitutional amendment directed against the sale or manufacture for sale of all alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

Led by Representative Hobson the prohibitionists argued that they were simply appealing for an opportunity to present to the people of the country through the state legislatures a definite referendum on the liquor question.

They declared that without reference to the merits of the question the problem had grown to such proportions that it justified such action. With 55 per cent of the people of the country living in prohibition territory, they asserted, the time had come for the submission of the question on a broad national basis.

Representative Hobson contended that his resolution directed against the sale of liquor for "beverage purposes" would not interfere with the state's rights. He said that under the proposed amendment it would be possible to manufacture liquor "for use" but not "for sale." The amendment, he said, would not interfere with the "old drinker drinking" but would prevent the "debauching of youth."

Representative Hobson explained that the present revenue laws would be repealed by his amendment, which would permit anyone to make whiskey for his own use. He declared that about 55 per cent of the people in the United States were living in prohibition territory.

Wayne B. Wheeler, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of Ohio, declared the fight against the liquor traffic had been finally brought "to the last stand of the liquor interests, the barricade of the national protection of the traffic."

H. T. Laughbaum, superintendent of the league for Oklahoma, declared that despite state laws and federal laws in the Indian country of Oklahoma it was impossible to enforce prohibition while the liquor traffic continued outside of the state.

William H. Anderson, president of the New York Anti-Saloon league, placed in the record a letter addressed to a whisky "cure" concern at Dwight, Ill., and signed by a distillers' distributing company at Kansas City, Mo.

"Our customers are your prospective patients," it read. "We can put on your desk a mailing list of over 50,000 individual consumers of liquor. Each individual on the list is a regular user of liquor. The list of names is now live and active. We will furnish this list in quantities at the prices listed below."

While The Men Are Arranging The Stage
we will draw back the curtain and see what's going on.

Really It's Interesting.

Here we are just a little over three years of age in Oil City, and honestly we have outgrown our swaddling clothes, and are doing something that it requires nerve to put over. Taking the entire building for store purposes, three floors and a basement, and going to have a dandy nice electric elevator, and a Boys' and Children's Department, where the ladies can come with the "kiddies" and take their time shopping—no crowding, no hurry-up—just a great big store for our little friends—lots of jolly pleasant salespeople to say welcome and make you feel it. Oh Gee! We are delighted ourselves. But oh my—good night! If you don't help the cause along we're going to do everything within reason to win your good graces and a share of your patronage. We don't want it all—we don't expect it all. Just a little share, and not even that unless we can give you as good or better than you can get from other clothier friends. On the dead level—we're just like a "kid" with his first "brass toed" boots—this is going to be some store—and perhaps the most pleasant part is that it's an Oil City store, made possible by Oil City people, and when the alterations are all made Oil City will be as proud of it as we are. "We will let you in on more of the secret later."

Attempt to Dynamite Foiled.
A bold attempt to destroy the hall being erected for the United Mineworkers of America in Iselin, near Indiana, Pa., was made. John Ties, foreman of the construction crew, found twenty sticks of dynamite beneath the building. A burning fuse had almost reached the explosive. County authorities will try to arrest the would-be dynamiters. This is the third attempt to dynamite buildings in Iselin.

Die geeignete Auswahl von Brillen.

Es sind mehr Augen durch unredliches Anpassen von Gläsern als durch sonst etwas ruiniert worden. Hat das Auge mangelhafte Refraction, so muß das Bild aller Gegenstände nach einem Focus auf der Netzhaut durch außerordentlich Tätigkeiten des musculus ciliaris gebracht, oder das Bild unvollkommen sein und das Refrakt verunkeltet. Sehens mit Schwäche und Schmerz im Auge und mit Strich. Dies verursacht Con-selationen, welche sich durch schwere Augenleiden, Rötze, Jucken oder Brennen, ein Gefühl, als sei Schmutz im Auge, ein häufiger Schmerz, verbunden mit Empfindlichkeit gegen Licht zeigen. Je schwächer das Auge, desto fühlbarer obige Symptome. Augen mögen physikalisch stark und gleichwohl fehlerhaft sein und ungeliebt.

Um durch Gebrauch einer Brille die Mühen aufzuheben, wird die Tätigkeit der Muskeln geändert, und wenn die Schwäche vorüber oder durch zu stark oder zu schwache Gläser nicht aufgehoben ist, so sind die Ursachen der Conselation eher vermehrt statt vermindert. Bester gemischte Refraction, muß irgend ein handelsglas den Schwächen vermindern.

Jeder Schwachsichtige sollte sich sorgfältig wissenschaftlich unterfragen und Brillen anpassen lassen, ehe er sie in Gebrauch nimmt.

In besonders Fällen werden Gläser auf Bestellung geschliffen, in jedem Falle garantiert.
